

WAFCS Website Content Guidelines

Family and consumer sciences-related content is welcome from:

- Any WAFCS member in good standing
- Outside organizations and individuals
- All content from both members and outside sources will be reviewed by the WAFCS Communications Director and posted at his/her professional discretion as space permits
- Submit content to WAFCS Communications Director at askwafcs@gmail.com

Content must meet the following requirements:

- No advertisements/endorsements for specific products or services
- Contains educational or informational value for WAFCS members
- Promotes, advances, and/or celebrates the field of family and consumer sciences

Content is most needed in the areas of:

- Regional event dates and information
- New professional resources
- Student resources
- Professional resources
- News articles featuring family and consumer sciences, award winners, and/or hot topics

Postings will adhere to:

- Appropriate grammar, usage, and mechanics
- Copyright law
- Respect for privacy and confidentiality

Photos and captions:

- Will be posted unless members opt out in writing and wear a “no photos” badge during conferences and events
- May include names and descriptive information about the event or activity
- Will not include personal identifying information such as addresses, e-mails, or phone numbers
- Will not identify children by name without written permission from parents/guardians
